

News

WEAPONS & EQUIPMENT

- 4 Rheinmetall explores naval HEL
- 6 NORINCO details land-based CIWS
- 8 hComms launch promises integrated C3 capability
- 10 Al Fattan Ship Industry unveils stealthy new ASW platform

MISSILES & ROCKETS

- 12 Rafael unveils i-Derby BVR missile
- 13 Aegis ships tested against a three-missile salvo
- 15 US seeks to increase AARGM range
- 17 MEADS International targets Poland's Narew SAM requirement

UPGRADE UPDATE

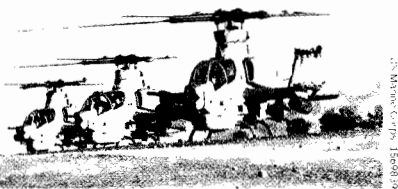

- 18 Elettronica to provide ELT/160 RWR for Italian Army Aviation NH90 TTHs
- 19 New powerpack for K2 MBTs

UNMANNED SYSTEMS

- 20 Hydra undertakes first sea trials
- 21 Tactical UAS can take on advanced mission sets, says Insitu
- 23 iRobot advances uPoint MRC system integration with unmanned vehicles
- 25 General Atomics eyes capability improvements

Special reports

- 27 Android ambitions: USMC tackles air-to-ground interoperability

US Marine Corps/13508139

27

- 30 Holding firm: F-15C remains in long-term USAF plans
- 32 Grinding on: Turkish knowhow underpins Saudi M113 modernisation
- 34 Technology partners: India, US and the benefits of sharing
- 36 Live and virtual: France undertakes helicopter tactical training exercise

Features

- 38 Self-sufficient: Turkish armoured vehicles march ahead
- 43 Fortress mentality: Focus on anti-access coastal defences
- 48 Outsourcing: commercial operators consolidate fast air

EQUIPMENT PROFILE

- 56 Unfinished business: Marte missile line evolves to seek new targets

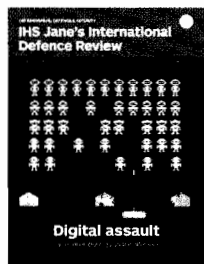

TECHNOLOGY REPORT

- 60 Out of the shadows: Normalising cyber-security operations

PARTING SHOT

- 66 NorthStar 407MRH

On the cover

60

A growing number of countries are overtly acknowledging that they have developed offensive cyber capabilities. This month IDR explores both sides of the coin and the normalisation of cyber within the military domain

On the web

For extra stories and images go to IDR's website at ihs.com/janes

- MDA to flight test SM-3 Block 1B with upgraded software in 2015
- US Army seeks robot medics
- Rheinmetall advances Skyranger 35 turret

Online content is only available to online subscribers